SOPHOMORES PASS TWO AMENDMENTS TO CONSTITUTION

Inaugurate New System of Class Government at Middlebury.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL WILL GOVERN CLASS

New Amendments Also Limit Power of Council.

Inaugurating at Middlebury a new system of class government, the sophomore class last Monday passed two constitutional amendments which formed an executive council to take care of most of the class business without the need of class meetings, and which regulated the number of meetings annually.

This is the first class which has tried government of this form. The first amendment which was passed dealt with this executive council, which is to be made up of one member from each of the fraternities, sororities, and neutral body, and these are to be chosen by the respective groups with no vote by the class. The class officers are to preside over this council but are not to have the power to vote with the exception that the president will vote in case of a tie.

The council shall have the power to appropriate money up to $10 without the consent of the class. They shall have control of all matters of the business of the class except the election of Kaleidoscope editor, assistant editor, manager, and assistant manager; junior week chairman and vice chairman; senior week chairman and vice chairman; and class officers.

HOMECOMING PLANS ARE NOW COMPLETE

Ice Carnival Features Program for Washington's Birthday Week-end.

The homecoming alumni will find many events of interest during the Washington's birthday week-end. New features are being introduced for the first time this year and if favorable weather is forthcoming the innovations will probably prove to be a decided success. More emphasis is being placed on the out of door events.

The tentative program is as follows:

Saturday, February 21

10:00 a. m. Chapel service with presentation of four "alumni awards" of $250.00 each.

10:30 to 12:30 Opportunity for class visitations.

2:30 p. m. Trials for the eastern intercollegiate athletic association's indoor track meet to be held at Amherst, February 28. (Trials to be held on the new board track near McCullough gymnasium.)

7:00 p. m. First showing of the latest edition of the Middlebury movies at the playhouse.

8:30 p. m. Costume skating carnival on the rink near McCullough gymnasium. Prizes to be awarded for best costumes. Dancing in the gym, if inclement weather prevents holding skating carnival.

Sunday, February 22

9:30 a. m. Snow shoe trips:

1. Chipman hill trip for old timers, novices, and those whose other engagements prevent a longer hike.

2. Five hour trip for seasoned hikers on the Middlebury mountain campus. (A nominal charge for lunch and trans-

Program of French Music to Be Presented at Chateau

A program consisting of compositions for the pianoforte by representative French composers will be presented at the Chateau Tuesday evening, February 3. Rene Morize '32, will give a brief talk on modern French music before the concert. The program is open to the public, and students and faculty members are invited to attend.

Students from the department of music will take part in the program, the personnel and numbers of which will be as follows:

"La Morena" by Chaminade, Caroline Pike '32; "Arabesque Premiere" by Debussy, Cleone Ford '32; "Reverie" by Debussy, Virginia Emerson; "Legende" by Tschaikowsky, "Bergere Legere", and "Paris est au Roi", Harold Sniffen '31; "Prelude Elegiate" by Paul Dukas, Jeanette Burgess '32; "Eau Bateau", (violin) by Debussy, Elizabeth Abell '31; "Jeux d'Eau" by Ravel, Louise Nelson; "Clair de Lune" by Debussy, Julia Sitterly '33; "Obstination", by Fontenailles, and "Ma Viosine" by Goring Thomas (vocal), Henrietta Olsen '31.

"Locreata" by Paradies, Virginia Emerson; "Mazuba" by Alberuz, Julia Sitterly '33; "Croeovienne Fantastique" by Paderewski, Cleone Ford '32; "Belle Nuit d'Amour" by Ossenbach, (vocal) Henrietta Olsen '31 and Harold Sniffen '31; "Consolation, " E major by Lizt; "Mazurka," F sharp minor, Chopin; "Ballad," opus ten, by Brahms; "A la Mer" by Schytte, all the last four numbers will be given by Dexter Davidson.

1932 KALEIDOSCOPE FEATURES PICTURES

Last Photographs to Be Made This Week; Will Bring Total Number of Pictures to a New Record in Middlebury Yearbooks.

Over three hundred and sixty separate photographs will appear in the 1932 Kaleidoscope. Practically all of these pictures have been made and are ready for the printer.

This extensive collection will greatly exceed the number of photographs that have ever appeared in any Middlebury publication. All phases of the college life will be well represented; individuals, groups, and scenes will make this ambitious outlay. Sixty individual portraits of the members of the faculty will add much to the value of the book.

It has been the policy of the editorial staff to make the 1932 Kaleidoscope a pictorial review of the college year. Past experience has shown that the students of the college are more interested in being shown people and events, than in being told about them.

Of course this immense expenditure for photographic plates has caused some financial worry. But careful budgeting by John Storm, business manager, has alleviated any trouble which might arise on this score. Circulation figures already equal those of any previous year, and the advertising space has been almost entirely disposed of. Thus the editors, Kirkland Sloper and Louise Brayton, feel that there will be no difficulties involved in supporting the extensive photography program which has been undertaken.

The last of the pictures will be taken this week by A. E. Arnold, local photographer for the Kaleidoscope. He has obtained a special lens whereby he will be able to take successful inside pictures. A schedule of appointments in the gymnasium will be made public within the next few days. These pictures will probably be taken on Saturday. Among the organizations which have yet to be photographed are: the women's "M" club, women's athletic association, sophomore and freshman class officers. Chapel announcement will be made when the time and place of these pictures is definitely settled.

DR. TRYON TELLS OF OPPORTUNITIES FOR ENGINEERING STUDY

Need of General Education in Technical Schools Being Realized.

RETAIL BUSINESS FIELD EXPLAINED

Dr. James L. Tryon, director of admissions at the Massachusetts institute of technology, gave an informal talk on "the education of an engineer" at Hepburn social hall Friday afternoon. Twenty men attended the discussion.

A Middlebury graduate in 1920, Joseph T. Kasper of New York City, spoke on "retail merchandising as a field for college men" at Hepburn social hall Monday afternoon. He discussed the business of the department stores in detail in his talk, which was delivered informally. There was an attendance of about sixty men and twenty women.

Tryon Analyzes Engineering Field.

Dr. Tryon discussed in detail the various lines of engineering education, especially from the point of view of a graduate of a liberal arts college. Due to the fact that a considerable amount of general cultural knowledge is now being required in engineering schools, it is possible, he said, for a student to receive an engineering degree in two years after graduation from a liberal arts college.

Engineering courses, said Dr. Tryon, generally fall into two classes: the four year strictly engineering course and the six year combination engineering and academic course leading to two degrees. The value of general subjects to the engineer is now being fully realized and in scientific schools, especially at M. I. T., subjects such as English and public speaking are being required, but the students are urged to take the six year course to get the full benefits of both kinds of training. The cost at engineering schools is high, however, so the four year course is still the more popular.

DRAMATIC PROGRAM TOMORROW NIGHT

"The Marriage Proposal" and "The Twelve Pound Look" to Be Presented.

"The Marriage Proposal" and "The Twelve Pound Look" will comprise the program of one-act plays to be presented at the playhouse tomorrow evening, January 29. In order not to conflict with the women's debate this evening or the glee club trip Friday, the plays will be given one night only. The curtain will rise at 8:15.

"The Marriage Proposal," a comedy, was written by Anthony Tchekoff. The characters are treated in the same high spirited way for which the Russian playwright is noted. The play deals with the interesting situations in a marriage proposal which is thwarted by unforeseen difficulties.

The second play, "The Twelve Pound Look," also a comedy, was written by Sir James M. Barrie. Fine character delineation is portrayed and the dia-

Organization of Mountain Club Rapidly Progressing

Thirty Middlebury students and faculty members took an all-day snow shoe trip up Moosalamoo mountain Sunday, January 25. The group leaving Middlebury at ten o'clock went to Lake Dunmore by car. From there they started their hike. An outdoor luncheon was served on the cliffs at the summit.

This is the second hike of this kind taken this winter. So much enthusiasm has been shown by these trips that a group of students and faculty met with Dean Hazeltine two weeks ago to discuss posibilities of forming some sort of a club, the purpose of which would be to sponsor trips into the mountains and to give the college students an opportunity to enjoy Middlebury's 35,000 acre campus. No definite steps were taken but interest was aroused.

In chapel Monday morning morning Roy Hardy '31, spoke to the student body concerning the formation of a mountain club. He stated the purpose of the club and suggested plans for organization. The success of the two previous hikes points to the organization as a successful campus activity.

At a joint meeting of the student government council and the undergraduate council a committee of investigation was chosen. The purpose of the committee is to take charge of the organization of the club and to investigate opportunities of securing equipment for hikes.

JUNIORS PLAN TO PUBLISH PROGRAMS

Committee of Five Named by Chairmen to Plan Attractive Souvenirs That Will Cover All Events of 1932 Junior Week.

Programs that will record all events of the 1932 junior week will be published by the committee in charge of the holiday activities. This decision, which is contrary to the one released last week, was reached at a meeting of the entire committee Monday morning.

Eugene Thiele and Eleanor Benjamin, co-chairman, have announced that the following committee will take charge of the publishing of these programs: Reamer Kline, chairman; Gray Taylor, Clarence Lilly, Elizabeth Brown, and Cleone Ford. Work will be begun at once in selecting the most suitable type of program for the event.

In past years programs have been published and sold at a loss to the classes. At the meeting of the general committee Monday the consensus of opinion favored a program which would not only be suitable for the occasion, but would not be a financial failure. The trend of feeling, as expressed by several, was that the week's festivities would be incomplete without this feature. Enthusiastic plans are being made for Middlebury's greatest junior week, and thus it was felt that each participant should be able to obtain some souvenir of the occasion.

Mr. Kline, as chairman of the newly formed committee, announces that contacts are being made with a western company, and it is hoped that through special arrangements the class will be able to obtain suitable programs at a very nominal price. The main objection that has been met in the past in efforts to sell these souvenirs of junior week is the price which has been charged. The 1932 committee plans to remove this objection and still publish a program which will be an honor to the class.

Two meetings of the junior class were held last week, one Friday and the other Saturday afternoon. Although a quorum was not present in either case, many helpful suggestions were given concerning the least expensive method of publishing this novelty. It was

ELLSWORTH SPEAKS AT ABERNETHY PARTY HELD FRIDAY EVE.

Well Known Publisher Gives Address at Third Annual Celebration.

SPEAKS IN CHAPEL SATURDAY MORNING

English Bible is Subject of His Talk to Students.

William Webster Ellsworth, author and publisher, delivered the address of the evening at the third annual Abernethy birthday party, held Friday evening January 23, in the Abernethy wing of the library.

The subject of Mr. Ellsworth's address was "Forty Years of Publishing." He opened his lecture with a discussion of the relationship between author and publisher, and stated that at the time when he went into the publishing business, authors and publishers were often on the closest terms. However, there were some publishers of that day who imposed on impecunious young writers. He mentioned as an example the treatment of Richard Henry Dana at the hands of a New York publisher, which caused all the authors of that time to submit their work to Boston publishers. Now the dealings of publisher with author are more businesslike and not nearly so personal as they formerly were.

Mr. Ellsworth went on to sketch the development of American literature from the middle of the nineteenth century to the present day. From 1850 to 1870, the literary world was dominated by the Boston group of writers, among them Longfellow, Lowell, Emerson,

WOMEN DEBATERS TO MEET KEENE TONIGHT

Subject of Discussion in Chapel is Scientific and Mechanical Progress.

The women's debating team will meet Keene normal school in the chapel at 8 o'clock this evening.

Elizabeth Brown '32, Mary Henseler '31, and Ellen Kellogg '31, will uphold the negative side of the question, resolved, that scientific and mechanical progress does not necessarily mean an advance in civilization, while Katherine Park, Florence Dunningham, and Sallie Preil, of Keene, will take the affirmative. Dr. V. C. Harrington will preside, and the judges are to be Mr. A. D. Seaver, principal of the local high school, Dr. H. I. Slocum, and the Rev. H. C. Bennett.

This debate is the fourth of the series of ten this season. So far the team has met the women of Boston, St. Lawrence, and Vermont universities. Included in the schedule is a New York trip, February 19, 20, and 21, when Middlebury will debate with Albany state teachers' college; New York university, Washington Square college; and the New Jersey college for women.

A non-decision debate between the women of Middlebury and the men of U. V. M. was held Wednesday evening, January 14, in the Old Mill chapel at Burlington. Marion Singiser, Marion Jones and Josephine Saunders, all of the class of '32, upheld the affirmative side of the question, resolved that chain stores are detrimental to the best interests of the American public, while George Nelson '31, Peardon Donaghy '33, and James E. Bigelow '33, took the negative side. Prof. Leon W. Dean of the university English department presided.

There is a disproportionate number of student organizations on every college campus, and Middlebury is no exception. But no matter how one is inclined to deplore this tendency, it must be admitted that a mountain club here is immensely desirable. A handful of faculty members and a few upperclassmen in both colleges perceived the advantages to be derived from such an organization. It appears that their enthusiasm was contagious since the proposal was promptly and enthusiastically accepted.

We will therefore add another to our already substantial list of activities. But in this connection it may be observed that the new organization is peculiarly indigenous to this campus, and fulfills a real demand for which there exists a real supply. This fact is more than many activities can give when asked the why and wherefore of their existence.

Last week in this column was published an article which critically observed the arguments of those who considered the Club just another activity, the officers, members, and benefits of which would come to the "closed corporation" and no other. That the statements alluded to in the editorial are gratuitous and not widely held is clearly perceived in the unanimous approval given the scheme in yesterday's meeting of the Undergraduate association. The idea of a mountain club, then, having met with the approval of the student body, it remains for us to give credit to the few who felt an urge to put it across.

It is gratifying to see the men as much interested as the women despite the former's already immense burden of campus activity. It now remains for Student council and Student government, representing the two colleges, to construct a mutually satisfactory program, which will allow every student an equal opportunity to enjoy one of Middlebury's finest possessions, her mountain campus.

EXAMINATIONS

Next week and exams will be with us. Theoretically, each of us has labored on his courses since September, more or less diligently. Yet it would be a common observation to point out that for weeks at a time, the library is comparatively empty, and others when it seems everybody has business there. Exams will bring to grace in the sublime presence of the Great God Himarx that one who has dug away, week in and week out. Let us not laugh at him for a simpleton wasting his time in pursuit of the immaterial. Rather let us give him credit, as surely the faculty will, who makes use of his time as befits an undergraduate. Exams mean nothing to him but another day in the week; to most of us they mean last minute cramming, ill organized papers, headaches, and low ratings.

How do you stand?

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Two amendments were recently added to the sophomore class constitution providing for an executive council to handle and propose business not delegated to members of the class. Its purpose is to stimulate a sentiment of class solidarity which, on most campuses, is non-existent. As such, the amendments are constructive and it remains for the officers and their council to find ways and means whereby class spirit can be aroused and sustained to advantage. In the good old days, there was plenty of common interest among members of a college class. We allude to the time when water fights, hat scraps, freshman hazing, and pitched battles were the rage. This spirit has gradually declined, since students nowadays simply dislike horseplay and rough stuff. If means are found, however, whereby an intelligent program of common interest is possible, the present sophomore class will perform many duties with energy and effect.

Vermont's Own Poet

"THE COLLECTED POEMS OF ROBERT FROST," New York, Henry Holt and Co., $5.00.

If this book were the only one issued this year, it would make the season of 1930-1931 one of the most outstanding in the last ten years.

Robert Frost and his New England poems are too well known at Middlebury to necessitate an explanation of the significance of this book.

The poems are arranged according to the form in which they were originally issued together with six new poems which have never before been published in book form. Thus one can easily trace the growth and development of Frost's verse.

We are especially pleased with the format of the book, for its excellent type, the fine paper upon which it is printed, together with the dignified binding, help greatly to give expression to the informal conservatism for which Frost is noted.

There are still a few first editions of the book at various book shops (though it has already gone through four editions) which students interested in worthwhile books would do well to acquire as soon as possible. But as for that, any edition of "THE COLLECTED POEMS OF ROBERT FROST" is a worthy addition to any one's personal library.

"Prohibition on the Spot"

"THE DRY DECADE," by Charles Merz, New York, Doubleday Doran, $3.00.

The Volsted act went into effect January 15, 1920. Since then, there has been hardly a day that it has not been front page news in our daily papers, scarcely a magazine (except the National Geographic) which has not featured stories on its failures or its success, scarcely a politician who has not looked askance upon its technical mouse traps, and very few members of the clergy and the educational world who have not devoted a greal deal of time to the study of its ethical and social phases.

In this book "THE DRY DECADE," recently published by Doubleday Doran, Mr. Merz has published the results of a long investigation as to what has actually taken place as regards the attempts to enforce the Volsted act.

Early in the book he tells us that by February 1920, at least three enforcement officers were removed from their posts because of proven corruption. Shortly afterward, it was officially announced that only a very small amount of liquor which was being brought into this country through Canada and Mexico was being seized, and that by June 1920, the well known "rum row" just beyond the twelve mile limit was an actuality.

Throughout the book, Mr. Merz spends a great deal of time and energy proving the obvious: that prohibition is not and, under present conditions, cannot be enforced. He tells how Harding, Coolidge, and Hoover have avoided the issue as much as possible, ignoring the matter in public, and washing their hands of the affair privately, but naturally he does not censure them for doing so.

Lest it be thought that the author takes the stand of an ardent wet, it must in all fairness be stated that Mr. Merz finds that in a number of industries, efficiency has been increased by prohibition. A great number of persons now own their homes who formerly squandered their money at the nearest saloon, and there are many students in colleges today who could not have been there without prohibition.

Mr. Merz offers no solution for the existing conditions. He neither accepts the whole affair as a terrible farce to be forgotten as soon as possible, nor does he look at it in the light of an idealistic crusader claiming that perfection is not far distant. He is to be congratulated for his excellent panoramic picture of every phase of the greatest economic and social struggle which this country has ever seen.

Four travel books will be published by Lippincott in the early spring. Richardson Wright has written "The Red Book of Travel" which was practically completed, the author tells us in sixty days while he was traveling in Europe. The other three will be "Back to Montparnasse" by Sidney Huddleston, "Meet the Spaniards" by Henry Albert Phillips, and "Sea Legs" by Oliver Herford.

Charles Angoff, managing editor of The American Mercury, has just completed the first two volumes of an interpretation of American thought and literature which Alfred A. Knopf will publish in March under the title of "A LITERARY HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE." The entire work will ultimately occupy four volumes.

Shreds and Patches

With intramural hockey (intramural: from the Latin meaning 'within the corral) in full swing, the innocent bystanders have an excellent chance to see some of our social luminaries dying for dear old Damma Damma. One wonders if the red cheeks are caused by the invigorating weather, or is it high blood pressure?

We wish the sociology department would gather statistics to discover whether more men use the women's skating rink, or whether more women prefer the ice on the south side of the hill. No, it wouldn't prove anything, but it might help to relieve the unemployment.

If this sub-zero weather continues, we suspect that rear Admiral Byrd will develop a yen for Little America when he pays us a visit next week. We have looked for a polar bear every morning when we went to chapel, but the nearest thing to it we have seen was Ed Lockwood.

The Wickersham report has added fuel for a group of debates in a number of classes. Of course, student arguments have never proven anything, but we ask you: did the Wickersham report?

The place: Boston; the scene: the Metropolitan theatre; the time: last Thursday evening; the action: The vagabond lover is airing his adenoids before the Bostonians; strikes a false note (did we say that was anything unusual?); whiz, splug, two antiquated grapefruit are tossed from the audience. Adenoids ducks in time to escape the fuselage, but his collegiate costume and his shiny saxophones are slightly messed. After a pause the program continues. Question: is a grapefruit a deadly weapon and can it be used with the intent to kill or maim?

By mathematical progressions, it has been figured that if a student pays the customary one cent cover charge at the library for "Ulysses" the second week of his freshman year, he will have a chance to read the bok the second week before commencement his senior year.

We are pleased to see that Barrie is returning to the local stage with "The Twelve Pound Look". If they ever run out of plays at the playhouse, we'd like to see an all-star revival of "The Valient", "Common Clay" and a couple of other plays of a few seasons back. How about it?

Mr. Donald Eastman '31, wishes us to state that the dark smear on his upper lip last week was a moustache, not the vestiges of a tar and feather party as some students have claimed.

The exhibition of first editions in the Abernethy wing last week would have been a bit more impressive if they had hired Charlie Shaw to guard the books and then had each visitor frisked as he or she left the exhibit. By the way, did you notice that the leaves of Mr. Hoover's translation had not been cut? We would have done it ourselves if we had dared.

We advise all freshmen to go out for the hiking club. It's an excellent means of getting prepared for Hades week which is not so far off as many wish it might be.

"LIFE IS VERY SHORT" SAYS DR. J. M. THOMAS

Counsels All to Have A Goal, to Plan Their Lives, and Not to Fear Discipline.

Dr. John M. Thomas '90, president of Middlebury College from 1907 to 1920, now a resident of Montpelier, Vermont, was the speaker at the vespers service, Sunday, January 18. He chose for his text Psalms XC:12, "So teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom."

The sermon follows in part:

"I am going to speak about a illusion which many of you probably have and which has deceived many people in all ages. It is the illusion that life is long and that there is plenty of time to make mistakes and begin over again. Perhaps I should leave you in this illusion. There are enough hardships to be met with in this life. But, nevertheless, some day you will be rudely awakened and you will suddenly know that life is very short and that there is all too little time to work and play.

"In view of these things then what is the counsel of prudence? It is this. Have a goal and plan your life. Estimate where you will be in ten, twenty, thirty years. Begin early and go in a straight line. Remember that in life there are no examinations or makeups. Life is good. There is a great time ahead for you. There is the fun of life and the work of life and the glory of life. But the glory of life is to be strong and the source of strength is discipline, and the ability to enjoy hard work. Have a goal, hard and difficult. Schedule your time and have your hand on the wheel until the stars come out."

WILLIAM FOSS BLODGETT DIES IN NEWPORT, VT.

William Foss Blodgett, who entered Middlebury last fall in the class of 1934 and was forced to leave college October 17, died at his home, 15 Third street, Newport, Vt., Saturday evening. Mr. Blodgett's death followed an unsuccessful operation for cancer.

He is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. William W. Blodgett, and three sisters, Ruth, Margaret, and Christine. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon from his home in Newport.

In college Mr. Blodgett was a try-out for the editorial staff of the CAMPUS and was pledged to Alpha Sigma Phi.

The Alabama Bible Society's report shows that 18,774 Bibles were distributed in the state during 1930.

GLEE CLUB LEAVES FOR ITS FIRST TRIP FRIDAY, JAN. 30

Concerts Will Be Given in Fitchburg, Mass., and Keene, N. H.

JAMES THOMSON '29, FEATURED SOLOIST

Both Light and Classical Numbers are Offered in Program.

The Middlebury College glee club will leave on the first trip of the season Friday, January 30, and will return Sunday.

James C. Thomson '29, will make the trip as violin soloist. Richard A. Fear '31, a member of the club, will give vocal solos. As a new feature this year a quartet composed of members of the club has been organized. James J. Kerr, Jr., '34. first tenor; Harold S. Sniffen '31, second tenor; Thomas D. Miner '32, first bass; and Walter G. Cole '31, second bass, make up this group.

A concert will be given in Fitchburg, Mass., Friday night and at Keene, N. H., Saturday night. At Fitchburg the club will sing under the auspices of Christ church, here a concert was given last year. At this place the members of the club were entertained very cordially, with a dance in their honor bringing the evening to a close. There will also be a dance following the concert this year. In Keene the club will sing under the auspices of Keene normal school. The entire trip will be made by bus.

Intense practice has been in progress since the Christmas vacation so that the program is now felt to be well perfected. The repertoire consists of numbers ranging from a special arrangement of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pinafore" by James C. Thomson '29, to "The Glory of God in Nature" by Beethoven.

The complete program which will be given is as follows:

1. "Concordi Laetitia," (Latin hymn of XIV century) arranged by Deems Taylor; "Slumber Dearest," Mendelssohn; "Feasting I Watch," Elgar.
2. "The Glory of God in Nature," Beethoven; "Now is the Month of Maying," Morley.
3. "Finlandia", Sidelius; "At Father's Door" and "Fireflies," both Russian folk songs.
4. "Chorus of Bacchantes," Gounod, from "Philemon et Baucis"; "Londonerry Air," an Irish folk song; "Glorius Forever," Rachmaninoff.
5. "A Persian Serenade," Ware; "Shadow March," Protheroe.
6. "Selections from Pinafore," Gilbert and Sullivan.

Songs of Middlebury College will be used as encores.

Mr. Fear, who sang as a soloist last year, will give as his part of the program "I Know a Hill," by B. Whelpley and "The Year's at the Spring," by Mrs. A. A. Beach.

The quartet will sing "Sylvia" by Oley Speaks, "Cradle Song" by Brahms, and the negro spiritual "I Got Shoes," arranged by Marshall Bartholomew.

The following men will make the trip:

First tenors: J. Calvin Affleck '31, Wallingford, Conn.; Richard A. Fear '31, Gloversville, N. Y.; T. Edward Harris '34, Staten Island, N. Y.; Edward Hearne '33, Melrose, Mass.; James J. Kerr, Jr., '34, Adams, Mass.; Ralph M. Locke '31, Montpelier, Vt.; Harlow F. Russell '34, Cliftondale, Mass.; Gray N. Taylor '32, Gloversville, N. Y. Second tenors: Richard H. Berry '32, Crown Point, N. Y.; Thomas J. Duffield '33, White Plains, N. Y.; Melvin H. Glazier '33, Northfield, Mass.; Reginald K. House '33, Williamstown, Vt.; Clarence A. VERMONT SOCIETY TO HOLD ANNUAL DINNER

Affair to Be Held in New York February 10; Governor Wilson to Speak.

The Vermont society of New York will hold its annual dinner at the Park Lane hotel in New York city Tuesday evening, February 10 at 7:00 o'clock.

A program is being arranged which it is expected will be of special interest to all lovers of Vermont. There will be an exhibition of the work of the Vermont commission on country life and the state highway department which will include maps and drawings showing the new highways, the distribution of churches, high schools, granges, etc., a segment of relief map from Lake Champlain to Mt. Mansfield, and the general weather conditions in the state.

A distinguished list of speakers has been arranged. Gorvernor Stanley C. Wilson will address the society on "The Restoration of Vermont's Highways," Dr. H. F. Perkins, secretary of the commission on country life in Vermont, will speak on "What Vermont Can Do," and Congressman E. S. Brigham will speak on "Some Aspects of Vermont's Future." Following the dinner there will be dancing with a social hour and an opportunity to view the exhibits.

The society is endeavoring to cooperate with state officials in bringing the attractions of Vermont to the attention of the public. To this end inviations have been sent to all Middlebury alumni who live in or near New York city. All Vermonters living in New York and people interested in this state are also invited to attend. Reservations can be made at $5.00 each with F. G. Austin, treasurer of the society, No. 195 Broadway, New York city.

Outdoor Evening to Open Dartmouth Winter Carnival

The twenty-first annual Dartmouth winter carnival will be held this year February 5-7 inclusive. This is the largest function of its kind in America, antedating all other collegiate midwinter carnivals.

The crowning sport event of the week will be the national tournament of the intercollegiate sports union which decides each year the collegiate winter sports title of North America.

Outdoor Evening will mark the opening of the carnival February 5. The "Queen of the Snows" for 1931 will be selected from the throng of guests passing through a gateway into the court of King Winter near the Outing club house on Occom pond. Contrary to the usual custom, the carnival ball which follows will be formal instead of a costume dance. The settings have been designed to suggest a balcony on a skyscraper overlooking a great city. Music will be furnished by Bert Lown and his orchestra of the Hotel Biltmore in New York city.

Friday will be distinguished by the various cross-country and skiing contests, speed and figure skating competitions, a swimming meet between Dartmouth and Yale, and the first presentation of the carnival show.

A hockey game between the Green and the Blue will inaugurate Saturday's events, and will be followed by snowshoe races, the intercollegiate ski jumping contest in the afternoon, and a Dartmouth-Harvard basketball match in the evening. The second performance of the carnival show will be given Saturday night.

Both Friday and Saturday nights, after the regular program of activities, the fraternities of the college will hold their carnival dances, while some students and their guests will make use of the perfect winter sports facilities at Dartmouth by skiing, skating, and tobogganing over the brightly illuminated ponds and fields about the college.

ANNOUNCE PLANS FOR SOUTHERN ITINERARY OF VARSITY DEBATERS

TAU KAPPA ALPHA LISTS 2 CONTESTS

Sponsors Coed Debate in Chapel, Feb. 17; Another at Grange, April 24.

Arrangements for the annual spring debating trip are being completed, according to the announcement of William S. Weier '33, assistant manager.

The trip, which takes place directly before the spring recess, will be one of the longest ever made in the history of the college by any debating team or other college organization.

The first contest will take place March 30 with Albany Law school of Union university at Albany. The team will then encounter on consecutive evenings Lafayette college at Easton, Penn.; New Jersey State Teachers' college at Montclair, N. J.; and New York university at University heights, New York city. Friday evening, April 3, Middlebury will engage in its first intersectional debate when it meets the college of William and Mary at Williamsburg, Va.

In the debate with the college of William and Mary, Middlebury will uphold the affirmative side of the question, resolved: that the United States should recognize soviet Russia.

The Middlebury chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, national honorary forensic fraternity, has completed arrangements for two coed debates. The first will be held February 17 in Mead Memorial Chapel. Another has been planned, by invitation of the local grange, for April 24 at the grange hall.

Last year the contests between the men's and women's colleges aroused much interest and favorable comment. In consideration of this fact the chapter has very carefully selected the team personnel and the debate proposition for the first contest. It has been decided that the question of debate will be resolved, that fraternities and sororities at Middlebury College be abolished.

The team representing the men's college will be composed of Anthony G. L. Brackett '33, Frederick W. Brink '33, and William S. Weier '33, while the women's team will be composed of Mary Henseler '31, Marion Jones '32, and Marian Singiser '32.

ABERNETHY EXHIBIT IS WELL ATTENDED

The exhibition of rare books, now being held in the Abernethy wing of the Egbert Starr library, has not only been well attended, according to the library authorities, but has aroused an interest which has steadily increased as the exhibit has continued. An average number of thirty people have come to the library daily to see the collection, and as time has passed more rare books have been added to the original number.

Among these later additions have been such first editions as William Godwin's "St. Leon," and "The British Theatre," by Mrs. Inchbald. Autographed copies of Siegfried Sassoon's, "Memories of a Fox-hunting Man," "Hiawatha," by Milt Gross, and "Fabes," by Gilbert have also been loaned.

The oldest book in the exhibit came as a later addition, this being a copy of Livy, dated 1554, the book being in remarkable condition despite its age. This ante-dates the cody of Petrach, published in 1560, which had been the oldest copy. Another rare edition is a Hebrew book, printed in 1619. A book of the "Live's of the Martyrs," written in Queen Anne's reign, and dedicated to her, is also of special interest.

The collection is noteworthy, not only for its first editions and old copies, but also for its autographed books, and imprints by early presses. Among the former is a Bible, autographed by President Hoover, and there are early imprints by the Knickerbocker Press, the Isaiah Thomas Press of Worcester, and by presses in both Middlebury and Rutland.

This is the first exhibition of its kind ever held in the library, and there has been such a fine response on the part of interested people, that it bids well to become an annual event in the library program.

French Club Presents Well Known One-Act Play

About seventy-five students attended the meeting of the French club held in the grand salon of the Chateau Wednesday evening, January 21.

The special feature of the program was the presentation of the famous medieval farce, "L'Avocat Pathelin." The cast was as follows: le Juge, Louis Caiazza '34; Guillaume, Lyle Glazier '33; Agnelet, Samuel Blacher '34; and pathelin, Emilio Farrari '34.

Piano and violin solos were played by Alice Cady '32, and Glady Mountford '33. The entertainment was concluded with two French readings, "La Bourse" and "Exempt de Gravate" by M. Jean Boorsch, assistant professor of French.

EL CLUB ESPANOL HAS BRIDGE PARTY

Five tables of bridge a la Espanol were played at the Spanish club meeting held in Hamlin Hall, Wednesday evening, January 21. Prizes were won by Josephine Walker '32, Warren Goodrich '32, and Philander Bates '31. The business meeting was omitted, and the serving of refreshments completed the social meeting. The committee in charge consisted of Elizabeth Moyle '31, Margaret Scott '33, and John Garretson '34.

BYRD'S LECTURE TO BE ILLUSTRATED

Nine Reel Film is Outstanding Feature of Explorer's Program.

Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd, famous explorer, who is to lecture here February 13 on the subject "Little America", has had a career unsurpassed in the annals of discovery and conquest. The successful expeditions which he has headed since his rise to fame have been of intense interest to the general public. It was thought when the north pole was conquered in May, 1926, that Byrd had accomplished a feat that could be called a life-work. The trans-Atlantic flight in 1927 gained for the Admiral and his companions more acclaim.

However, the south polar expedition was probably the most outstanding of the three exploits for so little was known of the Antarctic region, and such fine preparation was needed to carry the attempt to a successful issue.

The Byrd antarctic expedition explored a great territory and surveyed one hundred and fifty thousands of miles of it by aerial camera. The total distance flown was seven thousand one hundred miles, two thousand miles were covered by sledge while the polar flight itself was a sixteen hundred mile journey.

Admiral Byrd uses nine reels of film to illustrate his lecture. The pictures do not overlap the recent motion picture production, "Byrd at the South Pole". The explorer, who travels and lectures in uniform, possesses great charm and ability as a speaker.

Press Club Elects Five Tryouts to Membership

Five new members were elected to the Press club at a special meeting held after chapel, Monday morning. They are Nathalie Lewis '31, Gladys Mountford '33, Lucy Saunders '31, Catherine Wood '31, and Harold Young '32.

The following requirements must be fulfilled before a tryout is eligible for membership: he must complete twenty hours of press work, write a feature story, and be in charge of the press room for three afternoons. No unexcused absences are permitted.

Although the Press club is a comparatively new organization on campus, it has been very active, since its foundation last spring, in getting publicity for the college. The club was formed at the suggestion of Storrs Lee, director of publicity, and it is largely due to his efforts that the club has been so successful in gaining recognition and attention for Middlebury through the medium of the home town newspapers of the students. Members and tryouts of the club have a splendid opportunity to become acquainted with the correct method of presenting news features, and to indulge in amateur journalism.

Football Certificates Awarded Last Wednesday

Prof. Harry M. Fife, in behalf of the athletic council awarded varsity football certificates to twenty-five letter men at chapel last Wednesday morning.

Prof. Fife spoke of the spirit shown by the football team and the student body as a whole. In so doing he commended the members of the team for the spirit of sportsmanship which they showed throughout the games this fall.

PLANS ARE COMPLETE FOR SCULLION'S BALL

Most Exclusive Social Affair of the Year, to Be Held February 7, Will Attract Forty Couples.

Plans are completed for the ninth annual scullion's ball to be held in Hepburn Social hall February 7.

Forty couples have already signified their intention of attending this dance. Since this is the most exclusive social affair of the year it is expected that everyone eligible will be present. Only those men who have worked in Hepburn dining hall are privileged to take part in the festivities.

As usual a formal dinner will be held, with dancing before and afterward. Music will be furnshed by a combination of the best talent in the two leading dance bands of Middlebury College, the Middleburians and the Black Panthers.

President and Mrs. Paul D. Moody, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Wiley, Mrs. Maud O. Mason, Miss Mary N. Bowles, and Miss Eleanor M. Sprague will be the patrons and patronesses.

Those interested are again reminded that the dances to be exchanged are the third, fifth, seventh, ninth, eleventh, and thirteenth. There will be three extras, of which the first is left open with the other two to be exchanged if desired.

The committee announces that the dance tax must be paid by Friday to William P. Greene '31, or Gerald E. Thayer '31. Dance preferences must also be handed in on or before Friday.

MIDDLEBURY BEATS ST. MICHAEL'S FIVE BY 24-22 SCORE

Panther's Superiority in First Period Decides Contest.

BLUE OUTSCORED IN SECOND HALF

A thirteen point lead piled up before their opponents could get started, sufficed to give Middlebury's court team a 24-22 victory over St. Michael's in the Panther's first state series game here Saturday.

The entire game was hard and fast, and was featured by a splendid exhibition of close guarding by both teams. Middlebury started strong in the opening minutes of play, and was far ahead before the team from the north had scored its first field goal. The Purple exhibited a fine floor game, but seemed to have luck against them on the shooting. The half ended with Middlebury leading 16-9.

After the intermission the visitors came back with a rush, and rapidly cut into the Panther's lead. In the final minutes of play the home team was ahead by but one point, but Bullukian's foul shot just before the whistle made it two.

Devine, forward of the Mikemen, was high scorer for the evening with five goals to his credit, and McGowan trailed with seven points. For Middlebury Corliss with eight and Ashdown with seven, starred on offense while MacKenzie's guarding was a source of continual trouble for the Mikemen.

Alpha Sigs Nose Out K. D. R. in Hockey Game

In a thrilling overtime game the Alpha Sigma Phi hockey team defeated the Kappa Delta Rho team by a score of 8 to 3 to enter the final round of the intramural hockey tournament.

The game was fast throughout, with the winning team having a slight lead most of the way. A spirited rally in the closing seconds of the final period followed by a shot from beyond the blue line by Hickcox tied the game at three all. In the overtime period the Alpha Sigma Phi team showed team work and excellent shooting ability to score 5 goals while holding their opponents scoreless.

The tournament is drawing rapidly to a close with only two more games to decide the winner. In the semi-finals, the Alpha Sigma Phi team eliminated the K. D. R.'s, while the Deke and Delta Upsilon teams still have to play off their half. This game was scheduled for last night but due to the melting ice was unable to be played. The winner of the last game will play the Alpha Sig team for the championship of the intramural league.

Public improvements to cost more than $10,000,000 are planned at St. Louis, Mo., for 1931.

Alpha Sigs Lead in Intramural Bowling

Alpha Sigma Phi has taken the lead in the intramural bowling tournament from Beta Psi which held the lead during the greater part of the contest.

However, it is expected that Beta Psi will regain first position when its full quota of games has been played. The tournament will continue next week with several matches.

At present the Alpha Sigs have fourteen points; Beta Psi, eleven points; Delta Upsilon, six points; Chi Psi, five; Sigma Phi Epsilon, five; neutrals, two; Kappa Delta Rho, one.

NEW PROGRAM FOR TRACK CANDIDATES

Coach Brown Plans Extensive Program to Further Utilize Board Track.

Coach Arthur M. Brown has announced the most intensive practice program yet to be worked out on the local track. Starting with the fifty tryouts who are the largest group ever to support this branch of athletics here, Coach Brown has begun preparations for the intercollegiates, first indoor meet of its kind, at Amherst, February 28. Tryouts for the men making this trip will be a feature of homecoming week, Saturday, February 21.

The eastern intercollegiates, which are to be conducted in the Amherst Cage, at Amherst, Mass., are the first indoor track events to be held in New England. Since this meet is the first intercollegiate competition of the season, tryouts for the positions on the squad that will represent the Blue and White at Amherst occur unusually early. A select group of about a dozen, the best in each event, will make the trip. Freshmen are excluded from participation in the meet.

Coach Brown has planned successive intramural events in order that his athletes will be kept in condition for intercollegiate work. Following the Amherst trip, a decathlon is to be held, similar to that innovated last year. This will be run off March 4 to 14, and will consist of several events, including the mile run, the 880 yard run, 60 yard dash and hurdles, high jump, shot put, discus and pole vault. An individual rating system will determine the winner. Intramural relays are to be organized for the board track, from March 17 through 23, closely following the decathlon.

Realizing the limitations of the present track facilities for meets of any size, Coach Brown has developed a plan that will at least relieve the practise conditions. The new board track near the gymnasium is to be utilized to a more complete degree by the addition of jumping pits and weight circles. The pits are to be of special construction, and will take the place of earthen pits, and are thus to be available for a longer period than those dependent on the weather. By a cooperative schedule, every event the team uses in competition may be practised each afternoon.

Tryouts are to take place for the first varsity meet on successive days from March 25 to April 1, in preparation for the initial meet with Williams on April 25. The schedule follows:

April 25	Williams	there
May 2	Springfield	here
May 8	Colby	here
May 16	Intercollegiates,	Springfield, Mass.
May 23	State Meet	here
May 30	R. P. I.	there

The naming of this program committee completes the list of juniors who will serve to make the week the most successful in years. This marks the earliest date at which the personnel of these activities has been chosen. With junior week still over three months away, there is no doubt that all details can be arranged with great satisfaction.

HOCKEY TEAM WILL PLAY ST. STEPHEN'S

Opponents Have Won One So Far; Lack of Ice for Practice Has Hampered Them.

With an easy victory to its credit over Norwich last Thursday, the Blue and White hockey team entertains the St. Stephen's six here this coming Saturday.

The Middlebury team has come through the season thus far with no serious injuries, and it will be at full strength for this last encounter of the first semester.

Last year St. Stephen's had quite a successful season, winning six games and losing two; this year six of last year's lettermen, including Captain Bloomquist in the goal, have returned while only two men were lost by graduation. In spite of the lack of practice, having had only two weeks, the team has played three games and has won one of them. The first game they won from Rensselaer, 2-1; the second was won by Massachusetts agricultural college, 6-3; in the third game Connecticut aggies were tied, 1-1. Thus far the stars have been Captain Bloomquist in the goal, White at right wing and Nale at left defense.

CHI PSI AND D. U. LEAD COURT PLAY

Lodgemen Strengthen Their Position by Defeating Neutrals and K. D. R.; D. U. Wins From Sig Ep.

Chi Psi strengthened their chances of winning the intramural basketball trophy by two wins last week, defeating the neutrals 26-12 Thursday night and K. D. R. 24-15 yesterday. Both D. K. E. and D. U. added victories to their string by defeating Alpha Sigma Phi, 18-9 and Sigma Phi Epsilon 41-11, respectively

In the Chi Psi-neutral game the fraternity men were ahead through out the contest. Led by Chase, high scorer of the evening, and featuring a splendid passing attack, the Chi Psi's appeared to have their opponents bewildered. Hand was high point man for the neutrals.

The K. D. R. game was much harder fought than the neutral encounter. The first half closed with the Chi Psi's leading by the margin of one basket, 11-9. However, in the second half the men from the lodge piled up thirteen points to the K. D. R.'s six. The winners were able to do this because of better passing attack and a sure eye for the basket. The brilliant playing of Hartrey and Ragatz was also a big factor in the Chi Psi's victory, both men scoring eight points apiece. Belfanti, with four points to his credit, was leading scorer for the losers.

The Deke-Alpha Sig game was marked by erratic and rough playing on both sides. The passing attack of both teams was rather poor, as was their shooting ability. Altho there were many opportunities for both teams to score, but few of these chances were taken advantage of. Markowski was the outstanding man for the Dekes, running up seven of his teams eighteen points. Baumgartner, Perry, Sloper, and Siipola each scored two points for the loosers..

Last Wednesday afternoon Kappa Delta Rho beat Beta Kappa 26-16.

McInness to Coach Norwich University Nine in Spring

John P. McInness, better known as "Stuffy" McInness, Connie Mack's first baseman in the Philadelphia Athletics' famous $100,000 infield some years back and for seventeen years a major league ball player, has been secured to coach baseball at Norwich university next spring.

In an effort to create greater interest in baseball at the military college, the Norwich athletic council decided to seek the best known diamond star it could possibly get to coach the sport. A man of McInness' calibre is sure to increase this desired interest in baseball.

NORWICH IS NEXT COURT OPPONENT

Having won one game in the race for the state title, the Middlebury quintet is in line for a greater test this week when it plays Norwich at Rutland Saturday.

It is expected that this game will break the triple tie which now exists in the race for the title, Middlebury, Norwich, and Vermont each having won close decisions over St. Michael's.

The present indications are that the game with Norwich will be very close. Coach Beck's men looked very impressive at times in Saturday's game, but there were occasions when they did not go so well. The defense, particularly, seemed to need strengthening.

The Norwich team will probably be the same as the team which whipped St. Mike's 30 to 28 at Northfield, a week ago Saturday. In this game, Norwich used a changed lineup, shifting Hartford and Sipsey, former forwards to the guarding positions, Viether, a former guard, to center, and making forwards of Fanos and Forbes, who had played at center and guard respectively. This change was made after Clarkson defeated them 29 to 24 early in the month. On Clarkson's trip to Vermont in December, Norwich defeated the engineers 37 to 26, while the best Middlebury could do was to win by a single point, 19 to 18. Middlebury has made considerable improvement since that game, though, and should at least make a good showing.

U. V. M. to be Played February 10.

The first game after mid-years is the game against the U. V. M. Catamounts, February 10. The freshmen who have been invited to join the team will become eligible with this game, and some of them may play, although it is not likely, as a great fight is expected. The freshmen who are now on the squad have all distinguished themselves in inter-fraternity basketball. They are Anderson, Baumgartner, Bouryschkine, Chalmers, Olson, and Williams.

The Vermont team is said to be the scrappiest that the Catamounts have had for a long time, and these assertions are born out by the fact that five men were put out of the Vermont-St. Michael's game for personal fouls. Two of these were Vermont men. Vermont won the game 22-21, with Chet Taft, playing at guard, starring and sinking four of his team's six field goals. Previously Vermont had lost to New Hampshire, Harvard, and Dartmouth, and had won from Clarkson and McGill.

PANTHERS OUTPLAY NORWICH IN 5-0 HOCKEY VICTORY

First Lap in State Title Race Too One-Sided for Interest.

FULLERTON, GOALIE, STARS FOR MAROON

Middlebury Keeps Puck in Norwich Zone Much of the Time.

Intent on regaining the state title for the eighth consecutive year, Middlebury's hockey team began auspiciously by shutting out the Norwich sextet 5-0 last Thursday at Northfield.

A victory was conceded to the Blue and White before the game began, and the score does not indicate the superiority of the Panther team, which completely outclassed its opponent skaters.

The hill-and-dale surface of the Northfield ice lessened the skill and interest which have been conspicuous in other Panther engagements this year. The feature of the game was the fine pass work and puck handling of Middlebury, while the Maroon skaters showed lack of practice. The puck was kept in Norwich territory much of the time, since both the Norwich forward and defense lines were powerless before the Panther attack. Captain Fullerton of Norwich was outstanding for his team. He had a busy afternoon and well upheld his reputation as a fine goal tender. The shots caged by Middlebury were completed by drawing Fullerton out from the net. Webster, Middlebury goalie, had a cold but easy session, making only four saves, but two of them well done. Referee Ericson had to call twelve penalties on the Maroon players and only one on the Blue.

The home appearance of Middlebury against Norwich has been postponed to February 9, a circumstance which may result in seeing a greatly improved Maroon sextet battle the Panther to a closer score. The summary follows:

Middlebury (5)		Norwich (0)
Crocker (Capt.)	lw	Bugbee
Nelson	c	Martin
Makela	rw	Carpenter
Foote	ld	McKellar
Huntington	rd	Laythe
Webster	g	Fullerton (C)

Substitutions: Middlebury — MacLean for Makela, Viehman for Nelson, Yeomans for Crocker, Viehman for Huntington. Norwich — Youngerman for Bugbee, O'Byrne for Martin, Gale for Carpenter, Scott for Gale.

Referee: Ericson.

Time: Three twenty-minute periods.

MIDDLEBURY TO GIVE LARGE SCHOLARSHIPS

Ten Scholarships for Male Residents of Vermont Based on Character, Scholastic, Literary and Athletic Ability.

Director E. J. Wiley announces that a second series of scholarships of one-thousand dollars each will be given by Middlebury College to ten men who are residents of Vermont. These scholarships are known as the Vermont special scholarships and are distributed over a period of four years, two hundred fifty dollars a year. According to the announcements sent out to the state high schools the scholarship is "based on the general plan of the Rhodes scholarships, and given to male residents of Vermont who show promise in: qualities of manhood, force of character, and leadership; literary and scholastic ability and attainments; physical vigor, as shown by interest in outdoor sports or in other ways."

The selections will be made on the following basis: school record and personal references from principal and other citizens of standing in the community. All applicants (unless otherwise advised by the committee) will come to Middlebury for scholastic aptitude test, general intelligence examination, and personal interview with the committee of selection which consists of the president, two members of the board of trustees, the dean and the director of admissions.

The scholarship is tenable for four consecutive years subject to the maintenance of a high standing and a general record which is satisfactory to the committee. Applications should be made to E. J. Wiley, director of admissions and personnel, on or before April 15, 1931 .

Recipients of the scholarship last year were: E. B. Akley, Wilmington; F. T. Carter, East Corinth; N. L. Divoll, Bellows Falls; C. N. DuBois, Newbury; A. M. Flagg, Middlebury; C. F. McLure, Boltonville; R. K. Miner, Brandon; L. W. Sears, Middlebury; K. P. Thomas, Poultney.

SOPHOMORES PASS TWO AMENDMENTS

The council is to hold meetings the first and third weeks of each school month, the specific day to be chosen by the council. The members of the class are to be permitted to attend the meetings and take part in discussion but are to have no power of voting. A majority of the council shall constitute a quorum. Any member of the council who is absent from meetings twice, without filing an excuse with the secretary and without the approval of the excuse by the majority of the members of the council, shall forfeit his membership. The vacancy will be filled in the original manner.

The second amendment passed was that there should be five class meetings during the school year, the first week following the election of officers, second week in December, third week of January, the week preceding the spring recess, and the last week of May. Special meetings can be called at any time upon the order of the president, or upon the written request of a majority of the members of the executive council. The class already had the power to call a meeting by a majority petition.

President Moody to Give Commencement Address

President Paul D. Moody, who has recovered from a two weeks illness, left Middlebury yesterday for New York. He will deliver the commencement address at Flushing high school today, speaking on "Self Knowledge". Friday he will meet with the college trustees and speak at the New York alumni dinner that evening.

Other appointments include an address on Sunday at Ashville school for boys, Tuesday the Washington alumni dinner, and Wednesday the Philadelphia annual alumni meeting.

SEVENTY COUPLES AT DANCE AFTER GAME

Following the St. Michael's basketball game the "M" club sponsored an informal dance Saturday, January 24, at McCullough gymnasium. A large crowd of about seventy couples and a long stag line remained for dancing.

The Middleburians furnished music. Chaperons were Miss Mary S. Rosevear, Dean Burt A. Hazeltine, and Prof. and Mrs. John G. Bowker.

DR. TRYON SPEAKS ON OPPORTUNITIES

The course at an engineering school falls into two general divisions, Dr. Tryon said. The first two years are devoted to preparatory subjects before entering into the engineering work proper. Even with high enterance requirements, intensive work in mathematics, physics, chemistry, and mechanical drawing is necessary for the highly technical work of the last two years. However, college graduates with good training in scientific subjects can usually be credited with a large portion of the work of the first two years. In all his remarks on engineering, Dr. Tryon referred specifically to the Massachusetts institute, because, he said, it is representative of all the engineering schools of the country and because it was the one about which he knew the most.

There is also opportunity for students to enter as graduate students, providing they have done outstanding work in some line at college and have had the general equivalent of an undergraduate course at the institute. This applies particularly to students in chemistry. In every individual case, circumstances differ somewhat, he said, so that they cannot definitely say in advance whether admission would be possible or not without examining the student's complete scholastic record.

Expenses at engineering schools generally and at the institute in particular, run rather high Dr. Tryon said. The estimated minimum cost at M. I. T. is $1300 annually, of which tuition is $500. Scholarship help is available, particularly for graduate students and opportunities for work around the institute are available.

An arrangement has been worked out whereby a student spends half his time at the institute and half in the employ of the company with which he has chosen to work as a salaried employee and always under the supervision of experts. Admission to this course, which starts at the end of the second year and runs for three years is very much restricted, as only the best men can be chosen and the work is necessarily limited to a few. Admission to some of the other courses is also very much restricted.

Following the talk, Dr. Tryon answered the questions that were put to him by those who attended the conference.

Department Store Field.

Mr. Kasper in his talk on the department stores and on retail business in general, emphasized the importance of deciding upon a vocation before leaving college. For the college man or woman, he said, the future is the most important thing to think of. So many college men decide to enter "business" after college without having the slightest idea of what to expect of business or of what business expects of them.

The large department store represents the real development of retail business in this country. It is the modern metropolitan outgrowth of the old general store, but it is managed on modern lines. The department store is contrasted to the specialty shop which deals in only a single type of merchandise. The department store is composed of a group of specialists, each one being skilled in his own line, and the activities of each of these specialists are coordinated to make up a single store which caters to the wants of the modern shopper.

Department stores of the present day must study the demand for various articles very carefully, in order to make a quick and complete turnover of their goods. The art of displaying the merchandise in such a way as to stimulate the desire to purchase is also an important factor in modern department store operation.

Mr. Kasper emphasized particularly the need of creative ability in the advertising of the department store. This great opportunity for some work by the college-trained men who come into the department store line of work. A great improvement has already been made, he said, but there is still the opportunity of greatly improving the quality of advertising.

The period between 1870 and 1880 was a most interesting period according to Mr. Ellsworth. The effect of the Civil War on literature was keenly felt during these years. A period of literary expansion began, and our writers for the first time became international figures. A group of nature writers, among them Thompson-Seton and Burroughs, achieved prominence. In connection with the writers of this time Mr. Ellsworth mentioned the work of Stockton, whose story "The Lady or the Tiger" is still widely read.

Robert Louis Stevenson was the outstanding literary figure between the years 1878-94, said Mr. Ellsworth. This prolific writer produced an astonishing number of books during his short career. Another literary development of this period was the publication of the memoirs of General Grant and of Joe Jefferson.

Mr. Ellsworth went on to list the best sellers from the year 1900 until today. Discussing Sinclair Lewis as an important present day writer, he said, "I consider Mr. Lewis' books valuable as snapshots of American life. They are not books which I would reread many times but are interesting for their accurate pictures of America."

Ellsworth Speaks on English Bible.

Mr. Ellsworth gave a talk on the English Bible before the entire student body in chapel Saturday morning. In opening his discussion, he stated that aside from its religious value the English Bible had a very important place in English literature. No one can be an effective writer of English without studying the style of this remarkable document.

Mr. Ellsworth then sketched briefly the history of the English Bible. The first collection of the literature of the Bible into one book appeared in 250 A. D. This Latin edition was revised one hundred fifty years later in the Vulgate which lasted for one thousand years. The first English translation was made by Wycliff during the fourteenth century. There was a revulsion against translations of the Bible soon after this, and Wyclif's work was partially destroyed. Tyndale's translation from the original Greek and Hebrew versions appeared 150 years later. This revision is interesting for its mastery of the English language. Many parts of the Tyndale translation are found intact in the King James version. Queen Elizabeth made an important contribution in decreeing that the English Bible should be read in the church of England.

The climax in the development of this structure, which had been rising through the centuries phrase on phrase, was the authorized King James' version. This version contains only 6,000 different words, but in its simple, clear style it is full of music and beauty. It adds to the dignity of the upper level of society the popularity of the lower.

Mr. Ellsworth went on to explain that there have been many attempts made to improve this version of the Bible. However, modern translators give no thought to preserving the music which is found in the King James' version.

In conclusion Mr. Ellsworth recommended that everyone become familiar with the Bible, "For", he said, "the English Bible is the cornerstone of English literature and a source of inspiration and delight to all its readers."

Members of the Pi Beta Phi fraternity enjoyed a sleigh ride to the home of Mrs. Frances Caswell Nelson in Salisbury Monday evening January 19. Refreshments of coffee and doughnuts were served by the alumnae of Vermont Alpha chapter.
